

Eastern Tyger's Roar

Aife ingen Chonchobair in Derthaige

Now heed the call of Queen and King as war drums thun-der and bat-tle rings.
 Now heed the call of Queen and King as war drums thun-der and bat-tle rings.
 Now heed the call of Queen and King as war drums thun-der and bat-tle rings.
 Now heed the call of Queen and King as war drums thun-der and bat-tle rings.

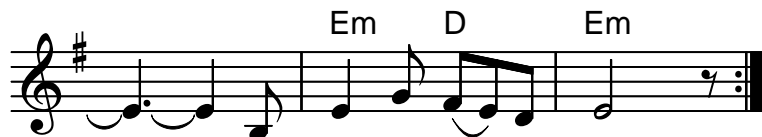

Raise your voi-ces and lift your swords; the East-ern Ty-ger is called to war.
 Raise your voi-ces and lift your swords; the East-ern Ty-ger is called to war.
 Raise your voi-ces and lift your swords; the East-ern Ty-ger is called to war.
 Raise your voi-ces and lift your swords; the East-ern Ty-ger is called to war.

Beat your plow-shares in - to swords, black the fields from bat - tle scars.
 Bow-man loose your arr - ows swift. Foes will shake at black-ened sky.
 Swear on chain of hon - or bright. Kneel be - fore your Ty - ger King,
 Blood of heroes runs through our veins. Blood, the price of honor and pride.

Gui - ded by our east-ern star, hear the Ty - ger's migh-ty roar.
 Sky will sing with fat - al gift. Guard us with your dead-ly eye.
 Rise! the host of east-ern knights. Cour-age stands through an - y - thing.
 Blood that's shed by bat - tle slain, blood that can - not be den - ied.

The East-ern Ty - ger roars!
 The East-ern Ty - ger roars!
 The East-ern Ty - ger roars!
 The East-ern Ty - ger roars!
